Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro

City: Rio de Janeiro – Country: Brazil

Our master program develops two different lines of research concerning the relations between culture, art, technologies and mediation. Their main axes are: critical analysis of cultural and media productions; issues on subjectivity, body, perception and affects; new forms of esthetical objects and gestures. Transdisciplinary perspectives on cinema, photography, media productions, literature and arts are emphasized, focusing multiple repertoires, narratives, and their hybridizations in artistic and media productions.
